

Selected Topics in Artificial Intelligence

Specialized Certificate

The Field of Artificial Intelligence

In the last three years applications of Artificial Intelligence (AI) have increased exponentially thanks to the increase in the processing power of supercomputers, and with the development of tools necessary to create AI algorithms. Examples of applications of AI are for instance rapid translation of texts from any language to any another language (this is covered in the "Natural Language Processing", course that is part of this certificate), as well as drug repurposing where machine learning algorithms discover potential new applications of existing medications.

Program Overview

Following our extremely successful certificate "Machine Learning Methods" that introduced necessary tools to understand and create machine learning algorithms our specialized certificate "Selected Topics in Artificial Intelligence" is a 9-unit specialized certificate and will start in January 2022. It will introduce concepts that allow machine learning i.e. artificial intelligence practitioners to exploit to full extent the capabilities of the machine learning world.

Program Benefits

The goals of the program under the professional certificate "Selected Topics in Artificial Intelligence" are to enable the students to:

- Apply knowledge in machine learning and applied mathematics to specific exemplary projects in artificial intelligence
- Broaden machine learning and artificial intelligence understanding, with regard to practical applications
- Gather more substantial practical experience with case design in the finance world context, and natural languages processing methods
- Learn how cloud services are essential in machine learning and artificial intelligence projects
- Learn how new powerful techniques in quantum computing provide a platform for AI projects
